Internationalization of Higher Education: New Directions, New Challenges IAU 2005 Survey

Internationalization is fast becoming one of the most important and complex forces in higher education. The last decade has seen unprecedented growth in the international dimension of higher education and the future promises the same.

From its unique vantage point, IAU is committed to undertaking worldwide internationalization surveys of Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) and other key actors on a regular basis. Internationalization of Higher Education: New Directions, New Challenges, a comprehensive report by Dr. Jane Knight, is the result of the second IAU internationalization survey, undertaken in 2005. The analysis of results is based on responses from HEIs in 95 countries making this the largest internationalization study of its kind!

Preliminary findings of the 2005 IAU Survey were published in February 2006 and are available in both English and French online on our website (see: www.unesco.org/iau/internationalization/index.html). A printed version in English is available on request.

Internationalization of Higher Education: New Directions, New Challenges is now available for sale. It has been launched on the occasion of the IAU 2006 Conference in Beijing, China. (For further details on the Conference, please see: www.unesco.org/iau).
