

Presentation title

“A repository for Information Literacy Open Educational Resources”

Presentation
Abstract

This presentation will discuss how various projects, including the JISC funded DELILA project, on IL OERs have led to two UK librarians to develop a website/platform/repository to host IL training material for others to use, regardless of sector or country. The platform is provided and supported by UNESCO and various country representatives have been identified by the project team to advocate librarians to upload IL OER to the site.

PRESENTERS

Ms. Nancy GRAHAM
University of Birmingham
UNITED-KINGDOM

Nancy Graham is the Subject Advisor (Medicine), Library Services at The University of Birmingham. I have worked on several projects focused on re-usable learning objects (RLOs) to support information literacy teaching, including project managing the Eduserv funded Birmingham Re-Usable Materials (BRUM) Project and two Birmingham alumni-funded projects, ReJiG (Re-purposing from Jorum into GEL) and ReLO (Re-using Learning Objects). The ReLO project outcomes included a logbook to be used for documenting the re-use/re-purpose process. In 2010-2011 I was the project partner for the JISC funded DELILA project which was about sharing open educational resources in the field of digital and information literacy. I published an article on the BRUM Project and have presented at numerous conferences on the topic of information literacy RLOs. In 2010 I set up and ran the one day CaRILLO event for librarians wanting to create and share OERs for information literacy. In 2011 I had a book chapter published on designing RLOs for information literacy.

Dr. Jane SECKER
London School of Economics
UNITED-KINGDOM

Jane is the Copyright and Digital Literacy Advisor at the Centre for Learning Technology at LSE. I provide advice, support and training to staff in all aspects of copyright, elearning and digital literacy. I am Conference Officer for the CILIP Information Literacy Group, Chair of the Heron User Group and a member of the UK Working Group on Copyright. I have published widely including most recently Copyright and E-learning: a guide for practitioners, published by Facet in 2010. I recently managed JISC project, DELILA which was about sharing open educational resources in the field of digital and information literacy. I am a Fellow of the Higher Education Academy and teach information literacy to PhD students at LSE. I have a PhD from the University of Wales, Aberystwyth, where I'm a honorary lecturer in their Department of Information Studies and a module coordinator on Web Publishing.