A/ Introduction

The Sensitization and Cleanup Campaign in the community of Gutter is an offspring of the Small Islands Developing States Youth Conference “Youth Visioning” held in Mauritius in January 2005. Its primary aim was to get youth involved in the development of their communities.

The focus of this project was to sensitize the village of gutter on their improper garbage disposal habits and to assist them to play their role in keeping it clean. This community is found in the parish of St. George on the outskirts of the capital city Roseau. It has a population of about 1500 persons with more than half unemployed. It can be described as a Ghetto.

The overall response to the project was quite encouraging, from the participation in the workshops which tapered to the cleanup of the ravine. The best attended activities were by far the children’s workshop, which months later continue to bear fruit and the heavy garbage day. It is strongly recommended that these activities be repeated. Funding options are being explored towards this end; possible contribution from villagers, from the Alliance Française and from Dominica Youth Environment Organisation Inc.

The effectiveness of the activity would normally be judged from the amount of garbage found in the ravine, after a month period, it must be noted however that this is not entirely reliable as it has been observed that storm drains from neighbouring hamlets feed the ravine in question. Actual evidence is more conspicuous; increased use of the bin provided, persons taking the initiative to clean their immediate surroundings and a few children are less inclined to litter. The entire project can be said to have been a success for if one person was inspired to change his attitude towards the disposal of garbage then the fight towards a clean environment has gained ground.

This report gives an overview of the different activities; a financial outline accompanied by photographs, media coverage and publicity documents of each activity.

B/ ACTIVITIES

DISTRIBUTION OF FLYERS

Flyers informing persons of the various activities were widely distributed throughout the community no less than one week preceding each event. Members of the Gutter Improvement Committee were instrumental in their distribution as well as keeping persons abreast on what was taking place. A young man from the community was given a stipend to have them posted up in various shops and bars in the community as these facilities are widely used, as well as on electric poles, walls and other surfaces in the community. An average of 25 flyers was printed per activity. A copy of each flyer is appended in the annex. Posters from the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation were also used in the sensitization drive. Please refer to the financial report for all cost related information.

WORKSHOP

A two day work shop for 8-11 year olds was organized. Its primary objective was to assist young persons to make informed decisions in the matter of proper garbage disposal. Held at the Gutter Community Centre from 9am to 1pm on Thursday 25th and Friday 26th August 2005 there were 45 and 50 participants respectively along with five adults present on each day. Facilitated by Mrs Marvo Didier-Samuel with Mr Jenó Jacobs- PRO of the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation- as guest speaker it was presented in two parts: 1) appreciation of one's natural habitat, 2) playing one's part to keep the environment clean. On both days the hall was decorated with slogans such as "Take pride in a clean Dominica, do not litter" and "Stop! Think! Where is my rubbish going to end up? Act!". The program was as follows:

Day 1 (Thursday 25th August)

Under the theme "Would you throw rubbish on a beautiful lady?" derived from Dominica's indigenous name – Waitukubuli- which means tall is her body, the first day was focused on identifying Dominica's natural features, fostering an appreciation of the island's unique attributes and finally instilling the idea that everyone one has a part to play to keep it clean and beautiful.

A DVD clip was used to feature the island's beauty before discussions began. This placed participants in a frame of mind conducive to wanting to play their role in safe guarding the island's natural resources. They were equipped with simple yet concrete means of doing this such as:

- not littering as well as discouraging others from littering
- closing the tap while brushing
- turning off electronic appliances when not in use (eg. TV, computer)
- the difference between biodegradable garbage and non biodegradable garbage and how they should be disposed of.

Mr Jenó Jacob of the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation spoke to the children on proper garbage disposal practices during the second half of the session. He explored the idea of separating garbage before disposing and practicing composting. The role of the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation and the importance of adhering to the laws governing proper garbage disposal were fundamental parts of his presentation. Participants were then placed into groups and asked to produce flyers which depicted proper garbage disposal practices as well as ways in which they could play their part.

Day 2 (Friday 26 August)

After a brief review of the past day's topic, the focus was placed on the final destination of one's garbage and the futility of the phrase "out of sight out of mind". Once again taking into consideration the attention span of young persons a short video clip was shown featuring garbage littering the marine ecosystems, the community and sea shore nearby where persons often go to bath. The fact that garbage does not disappear and go away as long as we cannot see it and that its improper disposal causes a chain reaction which is detrimental to man's future, was impressed upon them.

Participants were then placed in groups, given issues based on what was discussed and asked to present them in creative ways through play acting. A few of the themes were:

- educating others on proper garbage disposal – preserving water – littering.
- Discouraging improper garbage disposal
- Give alternatives to throwing out garbage (composting, separating garbage)

The workshop continued with a session on climate change, - the role improper garbage disposal and by extension pollution has on the natural environment. Participants were brought up to speed on current climate issues which affect and will affect our island and the world such as: global warming, greenhouse gases and the greenhouse effect.

The day ended with a general quiz to ascertain how much of the information participants had grasped during the two days and the distribution of participation certificates.

(Please note that Mr Jeno Jacob was absent during the second day's session.)

Participants were interviewed by various media houses and they were unanimous in their appreciation of the workshop.

POWERPOINT PRESENTATION

On the 7th of September from 7pm a PowerPoint presentation was held in the community square to a public of about 100 persons (adults and children). They hailed not only from the community but neighbouring ones as well. Bearing in mind that the primary focus of the campaign was to curb the disposal of garbage in the ravine found on the perimeter of community which leads directly to the sea, emphasis was placed on the consequences of such action, namely the destruction of marine life and the consequent loss of income (fishing). This approach was also chosen as we believed that villagers would better relate to the subject at hand. A brief yet concise explanation was given beforehand on the life cycle and patterns of various sea creatures and the delicate balance which governs their lives. A combination of graphics and text were used in a manner which encouraged rapid comprehension even by those who were illiterate.

The presentation was done by Mr Terry Raymond, National Coordinator of the Dominica Youth Environment Organisation Inc.

It must be noted that requests have since been forwarded to DYEO for the presentation of this production in other communities where identical garbage disposal issues are experienced. One such presentation has been held in the south-easterly village of Grandbay.

Included with this report is a copy of the presentation for your perusal.

HEAVY GARBAGE DAY

One of the highlights of the project, heavy garbage day or rather the collection of white goods was well received. On September 24th from 9am residents from the community brought out all loose debris and old appliances from their homes and yards and placed them along the main road for curbside pickup. The community turned out in large numbers (about 150 - almost every household threw something away), not only to get rid of their white goods but also to volunteer their assistance to load and unload the truck. It was amazing to see the quantity of “rubbish” people store at home. It took a 4 cubic yard truck five (trips) to get rid of it all. Carded to end at one pm it was extended to three pm due to the sheer mass of items collected. Since the event was widely publicized via radio, flyers and door to door notice, very little prompting was required to obtain their corporation.

Young persons from Gutter were even inspired to take the opportunity to clean out an empty lot which is usually used as a dump site.

The activity was done in collaboration with the Dominica Solid Waste and Management Corporation which ensured that the white goods were picked up and disposed of at the appropriate landfill.

Refreshments were served to all who assisted in one way or another to make the day the success that it was.

CLEAN UP OF RAVINE

Unlike the participation in the previous activity this one pales in comparison. On October the 17th, villagers were asked to come out and clean the unsightly ravine between the hours of 9am and 1pm. Despite the fact that refreshments were available as well as gloves, t-shirts and a few boots, along with the activities geared at sensitizing them to the importance of keeping our water ways clean, only a meager 25 persons turned out for the event. The same publicity tactics were used as in previous events (radio announcements, flyers distributed and placed in strategic locations and door to door notification). Notwithstanding, we forged ahead with the persons present and was successful in getting the targeted areas cleaned. An 18 cubic yard bin was filled with the refuse collected. This continued however beyond the time scheduled due to the small numbers present.

None participants though they deemed the cleanup a noble idea, were reticent to get involved for several reasons, namely that they did not live near the ravine, that they had a health concern based on the type of refuse thrown in the ravine and a pessimistic view about the lasting effect of the cleaning campaign.

Were its success to be judged solely from the number of persons who participated, it would be deemed a failure, but the fact that 20 persons showed up, demonstrates a willingness to change bad habits and a commitment to keeping their surroundings clean.

C/ CONCLUSION

From inception the response from the community and other partnering companies has been overwhelmingly positive. Persons acknowledged the need for such a campaign and pledged their support from the start. As with any project there were off course skeptics and those who are jaded by the issue at hand. But overall I am quite pleased with the manner in which the activities took place as well as the support received.

Although the turnout to some of the activities was poor, the commitment demonstrated by those who participated is heartening. For if this campaign has caused one person to alter their attitude and garbage disposal practices then it has been successful. As we all know attitudes do not change in a day. It takes a willingness to change and a life time of practice to get it right.

Neighbouring communities have been impressed by what has been done thus far and have requested that the same be done in their own communities. So this initiative has been well received and had planted seeds which will bear fruit in the future.

It was also noted that the campaign united villagers who were still divided politically following the general elections of May 2005. They put aside their differences and placed the community in the forefront.

It has become an excellent stepping stone for future projects.

Most residents have voiced the desire to host such an event annually, as it is feared that persons may revert back to their old habits. Funding is being sourced from DYEO and other local agencies to this end. Thus far the heavy garbage day may be the most expensive undertaking. Meetings have been scheduled with the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation to review cost.

PRESS RELEASE

HEAVY GARBAGE DAY

The Dominica Youth Environment Organisation Inc (DYEO Inc.) in partnership with the Gutter Improvement Committee and the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation has embarked on a Sensitisation and Clean up Campaign in the Community of Gutter. This project funded by UNESCO runs from the 25th of August to the 16th of October. Thus far a workshop for kids and a PowerPoint presentation have been completed. The next activity is scheduled for Saturday the 24th of September – a heavy garbage day. Between the hours of 9am and 12pm persons of that community are urged to place all their white goods along the roadside to be picked up by the Solid Waste Management Corporation. This offers community members the opportunity to get rid of all their white goods (old stoves, refrigerators, mattresses, washing machines...) in a manner that befits the nature island of the Caribbean. The goal of these activities is too impress upon the community the need to play their part in keeping Gutter clean and by extension Dominica. The motto of the campaign is “Don’t throw rubbish on a beautiful lady”. The Campaign will end with a massive clean up on the 16th of October 2005.

PRESS RELEASE

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

The sensitization and clean up campaign of the Gutter Community culminates this Sunday with a massive clean up of the ravine and surroundings. The Dominica Youth Environment Organisation Inc.(DYEO) in collaboration with the Gutter Improvement Committee and the Dominica Solid Waste Management Corporation ends its three month clean up and sensitization campaign. This project was made possible by UNESCO. Thus far a two day workshop for kids, a PowerPoint presentation and a Heavy Garbage Day have been successfully organised. On Sunday 16th October, from about 9am residents are urged to turn out in large numbers to clean their surroundings more specifically in and around the ravine. Sunday's activity aims to get residents directly involved with the cleanliness of their surroundings thereby encouraging them to be discriminate about garbage disposal. The motto of the campaign being "Don't throw rubbish on a beautiful lady" is quite fitting as the analogy gives the activity a more down to earth aspect.

Gutter dumps heavy garbage

By Eugene George
Multicolored, vibrant, fairs, tents in the streets of Gutter could have been mistaken for a used hardware store last Saturday, as residents piled up heavy garbage that was disposed of as part of a UNESCO sponsored Sanitation and Garbage Campaign in Gutter Village.

The Gutter Improvement Committee and the Jamaica Youth Environment Organisation (JYEO) have partnered in this initiative, which began on August 23 and ends on October 14. The Heavy Garbage Day, as it was termed, saw a team of volunteers assisted by JYEO members pick up discarded white goods along the Gutter community main road that was disposed of by the Central Solid Waste Management Corporation. According to a release from JYEO, "This effort consciously erodes the community's reliance on their white goods (air cleaners, coffee-makers, toasters, washing machines...) in a manner that puts the future health of the Community.

Arth Hughes, President of the Gutter Development Committee was proud assisting villagers that Saturday, and expressed satisfaction with the response of the community to the campaign. "Some people were just embarrassed because they have air conditioners and they were afraid of getting it out, so they were waiting for that opportunity," he said in being interviewed. The reason the campaign had developed in the community.

The focus of the campaign is "Clean these rubbish in a beautiful way", and weekly workshops have been held for children on proper garbage disposal practices, and the community viewed a poster presentation on negative effects of bad garbage disposal. The Campaign will end with a massive clean-up campaign on October 14.

TRUCKLOADS OF HEAVY GARBAGE WAS COLLECTED BY THESE MEN IN THE GUTTER COMMUNITY.

Clean up for Gutter

Members of the Gutter Improvement Committee Mrs Myrta Didier Samuel believes that community partnership is key if a healthy and vibrant community is to be maintained.

From the 25th of August to October 16th the Gutter Improvement Community in partnership with the Dominica Youth Environment Organization will undertake sensitization and clean up campaigns in the community of Gutter.

The project being funded by UNESCO seeks to be one of inclusion. Mrs. Samuel is calling on the entire Gutter Community to play their part.

"It is very important that we get the persons in the community involved, we don't want to just do something to the community without their input. So its like they would just see a bunch of persons doing this thing, since they are not directly involved they would not see the need to maintain the cleanliness of the environment because it was never their initiative," Mrs. Samuel said.

The sensitization and clean up campaign will commence with a children's workshop on the 25th and 26th of August. On the 27th and 28th of September there will be a power point and screen presentation on environmental safety issues. October 16th will be the actual clean up campaign in the community.

Mrs. Didier says she is confident that the project will bear fruit in the young minds in the community.
