Subject: The Sixth Consultation on the implementation of the Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Cooperation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (1974)

Dear Minister,

As you are no doubt aware, every four years UNESCO monitors the implementation of the Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Cooperation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (1974 Recommendation), adopted by the Organization's General Conference at its 18th session in 1974. We are now launching the Sixth Consultation on the implementation of this Recommendation, which will result in a report covering the period 2012-2015 that is to be submitted to the 202nd session of the Executive Board and subsequently, to the 39th session of the General Conference in 2017.

As the principles of the 1974 Recommendation are closely aligned to Target 4.7 of the Sustainable Development Goal on education, the monitoring of the implementation of the 1974 Recommendation also is a highly relevant opportunity to follow-up and review the progress towards the achievement of the Target, with a focus on education for sustainable development and sustainable lifestyles, human rights, gender equality, the promotion of a culture of peace and non-violence, global citizenship and appreciation of cultural diversity, as well as on culture's contribution to sustainable development.

In order to facilitate the reporting on the 1974 Recommendation, the Executive Board approved, at its 199th session, the attached guidelines containing a questionnaire, which will be made available online for Member States to complete. Only one questionnaire per country should be submitted, and it will represent the official country report. I invite you kindly to compile your answers in a participatory manner, in coordination with relevant national stakeholders including NGOs working in these areas and your National Commission for UNESCO, with as much information as there is available.

The Permanent Delegation to UNESCO of your country will forward to you a communication with a link to the questionnaire, as well as instructions on how to fill in your answers through an online platform. Your country's report should be submitted online no later than on 30 September 2016.

In the event that an online submission of your answers is not possible, a hard copy of your completed questionnaire should reach Mr Qian Tang, Assistant Director-General for Education at UNESCO Headquarters, by post at: 7, Place de Fontenoy, 75352 Paris 07 SP France, or by e-mail at: gced@unesco.org. The deadline for the receipt of submissions by e-mail is the same as the one stated above.

For any questions related to this matter, I invite you to contact the Division for Inclusion, Peace and Sustainable Development, in the Section of Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship of the Education Sector at: gced@unesco.org.

Yours sincerely,

Irina Bokova
Director-General

GUIDELINES FOR THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS BY MEMBER STATES ON THE APPLICATION OF THE RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING EDUCATION FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING, CO-OPERATION AND PEACE AND EDUCATION RELATING TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOM (1974)

As adopted at the 199th session of the Executive Board

I. Introduction

A. About the 1974 Recommendation

1. The UNESCO Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Co-operation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (1974 Recommendation) aims to promote world peace through international understanding, solidarity and cooperation. It was adopted on 19 November 1974 by the General Conference of UNESCO at its 18th session.

2. The General Conference "recommends that Member States should apply" the provisions included in the 1974 Recommendation "by taking whatever legislative or other steps" that provide institutional (e.g. policies and systems) and pedagogical (e.g. teacher training, educational materials, equipment, etc.) support for its implementation, based on the "objectives", referred to in paragraph 4 of the 1974 Recommendation, "regarded as major guiding principles" such as a global education perspective, cultural diversity, interdependence, communication, rights and responsibilities, international solidarity and cooperation, and, problem solving, as well as other principles[1] including:

    - cultural diversity and tolerance
    - equality and non-discrimination
    - peace and non-violence
    - justice and fairness
    - human rights and fundamental freedoms
    - human survival and well-being
    - caring for our planet/sustainability

3. The 1974 Recommendation is applicable to formal, non-formal and informal education and to all levels, from pre-primary to higher and adult education and life-long learning. It concerns areas such as civics and ethics education, education for international understanding, solidarity and cooperation and/or other related subjects, such as peace education, human rights education or other areas of study that focus or include the teaching and learning of the above principles. Over time, these areas have evolved to include other topics[2] related to education on sustainable development, climate change, global citizenship, preventing violent extremism, or others, which are also closely related to the original principles of the 1974 Recommendation.

1 These are principles that are included throughout the 1974 Recommendation and which are grouped here to guide the reporting process.

2 These include topics that are closely related to the principles of the 1974 Recommendation and which are frequently mainstreamed in national education systems. They are also used as a reference in the questionnaire.

B. Reporting obligations

4. The General Conference, at its 18th session, "recommends that Member States submit […] reports concerning the action taken by them in pursuance of this recommendation". Moreover, in accordance with Article VIII of UNESCO's Constitution "Each Member State shall submit to the Organization […] reports […] on the action taken upon the recommendations and conventions referred to in Article IV, paragraph 4."

5. All Member States, given the political commitment to and moral force of the 1974 Recommendation and their reporting obligations, should provide information on legislative measures that have been taken pursuant to the 1974 Recommendation and the ways in which national education policies and programmes correspond to its provisions. Information supplied by Member States should demonstrate how laws and practices comply with the commitments under the 1974 Recommendation, describing legal norms as well as actual implementation.

II. How to fill in the questionnaire

- The following questionnaire has been updated to guide and assist Member States with their reporting. It aims to collect, in a simplified manner, information on the extent to which Member States have mainstreamed the principles of the 1974 Recommendation in their education systems, focusing on institutional, content, teachers, assessment, materials/resources, experiential opportunities and overall implementation issues. Responses to this questionnaire will be considered as the official national report for each Member State.

- Only one questionnaire per country should be submitted, which will represent the official country report.

- Member States with a federal system of governance are invited to provide information on the overall implementation of the 1974 Recommendation in the country rather than its implementation in each individual sub-national state, as appropriate. Space is also provided under question 29 for Member States to include any additional information they wish to share.

- Prior to completing the questionnaire, Member States are encouraged to organize necessary consultations within and outside the Ministry of Education/Government, including with key, relevant civil society partners to collect the information/data.

- Member States have two options for submitting the questionnaire:

  i. Online: the questionnaire can be completed and submitted online through this link;

  ii. Hard copy: the questionnaire can be completed electronically and the hard copy should be sent to the Assistant Director-General for Education, UNESCO. It is recommended that the questionnaire be filled by the Ministry responsible for education.
